

SCU

SERIOUS CRASH UNIT

Go behind the scenes of real and fascinating forensic investigations.

It is not unusual to see news reports of the many deaths on the roads caused by dangerous driving, unsafe vehicles, drugs or alcohol. Here is the opportunity to follow the complex chain of events that proves the difference between survival and death.

When a car crash results in injury or death, specialised police teams called Serious Crash Units are called in to deal with the aftermath. Serious Crash Unit follows the work of one such team of crash investigators and takes the viewer inside every stage of the investigation of a fatal road accident with unprecedented access. The SCU team put all their scientific and detective skills to the test to find out exactly what happened, and why.

Starting at the site of each crash, the SCU collect and analyse the evidence, comparing it with witness statements and thorough examinations of the vehicles involved. Piece by piece they reconstruct a precise picture of what took place, second by second, as the catastrophe unfolded. Computer animations recreate each crash on screen in real time. The effect is powerful. SCU also talks to people affected by the crashes, including family members struggling with the death of a loved one and occasionally a survivor who talks through the harrowing events of a crash.

Serious Crash Unit is a potent exploration of important road safety issues that are of urgent relevance to all drivers everywhere.
